

https://www.gwinnettdaily.com/archive/two-agree-to-fines-in-election-fraud-case/article_4c875e69-6b96-545d-8b22-3e5e98ca644f.html

Two agree to fines in election fraud case

the Associated Press

Nov 16, 2011

JEFFERSONVILLE -- A former Twiggs County sheriff and his son each have agreed to pay $300 in civil fines involving election fraud accusations.

The Telegraph newspaper reported that Greg and Doyle Stone agreed to the fines in an order approved Thursday by Secretary of State Brian Kemp.

Neither of the Stones admitted guilt in the case, which extends from Greg Stone's 2008 primary election run for Twiggs County sheriff. Doyle Stone once held the post.

The state found that each of the Stones illegally handled absentee ballots of three Twiggs County voters.

No criminal penalties are part of the agreements.