

REPUBLIC OF THE CONGO

The Republic of the Congo's economic freedom score is 47.8, making its economy the 157th freest in the 2024 Index of Economic Freedom. Its rating has decreased by 0.3 point from last year, and the Republic of the Congo is ranked 38th out of 47 countries in the Sub-Saharan Africa region. The country's economic freedom score is lower than the world and regional averages. The Republic of the Congo's economy is considered "repressed" according to the 2024 Index.

Economic freedom remains fragile in Congo because of repressive governance that is exacerbated by weak rule of law. The weak judiciary fuels corruption, and state control is extensive. Political instability and the slow pace of reform have left the nation's institutional capacity inadequate. The formal labor market is not well developed. Congo is one of sub-Saharan Africa's largest producers of oil but lacks the infrastructure needed to exploit its energy potential.
