

SAMOA

amoa's economic freedom score is 67.2, making its economy the 40th freest in the 2024 Index of Economic Freedom. Its rating has decreased by 1.1 points from last year, and Samoa is ranked 7th out of 39 countries in the Asia-Pacific region. The country's economic freedom score is higher than the world and regional averages. Samoa's economy is considered "moderately free" according to the 2024 Index.

Structural and institutional reform in Samoa has progressed unevenly. More vibrant economic growth is constrained by structural weaknesses that continue to undermine the private sector. The pace of reform has slowed in recent years. The regulatory framework supports entrepreneurial activity, but application of the commercial codes is not always straightforward. A modern labor market is not fully developed, and informal labor activity remains substantial. Two-thirds of the workforce is employed in fishing and agriculture, and the economy relies heavily on remittances from emigrants.
