 ECONOMIC FREEDOM STATUS: REPRESSED

CUBA

Cuba's economic freedom score is 25.4, making its economy the 175th freest in the 2025 Index of Economic Freedom. Its rating has decreased by 0.3 point from last year, and Cuba is ranked 32nd out of 32 countries in the Americas region. The country's economic freedom score is lower than the world and regional averages. Cuba's economy is considered "repressed" according to the 2025 Index.

Cuba's inefficient state-run economy performs very poorly, and its component scores are far below world averages in many categories. The absence of an independent and fair judiciary weakens the rule of law. Rigid state control has long shackled the private sector. Regulatory efficiency remains poor, and private entrepreneurship is limited. The application of regulations is inconsistent and nontransparent. The state-controlled labor market has resulted in a large informal sector. Monetary stability is vulnerable to state interference, and prices are subject to controls.
